Courses and Curriculum

Kazi Nazrul University, Asansol, customizes distinct CBCS (LOCF) syllabi for both undergraduate and postgraduate programs based on the subjects available at our institution. Following the completion of the admission process, each department conducts an induction meeting with their respective students to review the curriculum. The Routine Committee then creates a Master Routine for each shift, which is distributed among the departments for syllabus dissemination to the faculty. Upon review, the Routine Committee forwards the finalized routine to the Principal through the IQAC coordinator. Subsequently, teachers develop their lesson plans according to the assigned topics and submit them to the IQAC for approval.

B.B. College offers undergraduate programs in a variety of Arts, Commerce, and Science disciplines, including both general and honours tracks. Additionally, the college has introduced specialized courses such as BBA, BCA, and departmental training programs covering areas like Dry Farming, Cultivation, Vermi-Composting, Sericulture Training, and Soil Water Analysis. Furthermore, the campus hosts three distance education study centers affiliated with IGNOU, NSOU, and MAANU.

Institutional Infrastructure for Teaching -Learning and Evaluation

- The college campus spans across 7.8088 acres of land, accommodating four major buildings and two administrative blocks. Among the facilities are 71 classrooms, which include 5 smart classrooms and 15 ICT-enabled ones, all equipped with internet (WiFi) connectivity. Additionally, the college boasts 22 well-equipped laboratories, along with a central laboratory facility dedicated to research activities. The college operates three different shifts—Morning, Day, and Evening.
- The Main Building/Science Building comprises 72 rooms, with 41 serving as classrooms and one designated as a seminar hall. The Humanities Building houses a total of 29 rooms, including 14 classrooms, and is also home to the college library. The BBA/BCA building features 12 rooms, including 6 classrooms and 1 computer lab. Adjacent to the main campus is the Hindi shift building, which accommodates 9 classrooms and one seminar hall.
- Moreover, the college provides a seminar hall-cum-ICT classroom with seating for 120 individuals, facilitating seminars, workshops, and public lectures. The Central Library boasts a collection of 49,845 books, while many departments maintain seminar libraries offering lending and reference services. An extensively equipped LAN-compatible computer laboratory in the administrative building is dedicated to online examinations.
- For residential accommodations, the college offers separate hostels for boys and girls, comprising 32 and 38 rooms, respectively, for boarders. Additionally, the campus features three gardens, including a butterfly garden and a Charak medicinal garden, providing serene outdoor spaces. Lastly, a spacious canteen caters to the needs of all students and staff members.
- We maintain five comprehensive open-access central libraries, each abundantly stocked with resources and utilizing Database SOUL2.0. Additionally, there are twenty departmental libraries, collectively offering over 60,000 copies of text and reference books, as well as 12 hard copies of journals/periodicals and subscriptions to online resources such as NLIST for enriched teaching and learning experiences.

Central Library Facility

Since 2011, both the Central library and all departmental libraries of the college have been automated using SOUL 2.0 as their Integrated Library Management System (ILMS). The Central Library now offers fully automated online book lending services, digitizing records and enhancing user experience by providing access to personalized library profiles online. Additionally, the Central library is equipped with a bar-coding machine for efficient management. Users can access the bibliographic records of the Central Library through WebOPAC from both within and outside the library campus.

Specialized services provided to students and teachers include information dissemination via email, photocopying facilities, and access to the NLIST program, initiated at the college since April 30, 2011. Furthermore, the College Library houses a Digital Preservation Center dedicated to digitizing old and rare books. The College Library webpage is interactive, allowing users to submit queries through the "ASK THE LIBRARIAN" feature. The library also conducts department-wise Library Orientation Programs to promote awareness about the Integrated Library Management System.

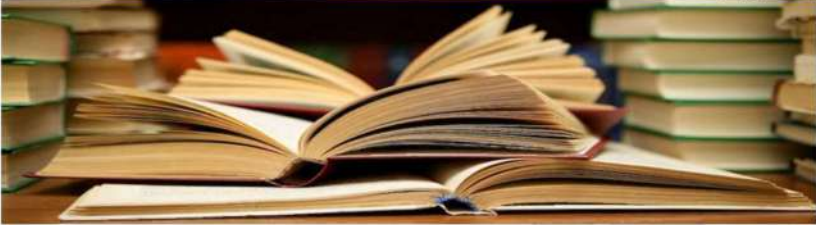

Reference and Referral services are available through various channels including email, WhatsApp, and directly from the Central Library.

ICT-based Innovative Teaching -Learning

- In 2022, we reverted to traditional classroom teaching methods. However, to supplement this, audio and video recordings of select lectures were shared via WhatsApp or uploaded to YouTube. Furthermore, teachers utilized WhatsApp and Google Classroom to disseminate educational materials. Upon completing designated topics, teachers assigned multiple tasks to students to assess their progress. Additionally, certain departments arranged special lectures and workshops.
- At our college, student-centered learning has always been a priority. Alongside traditional teaching methods, we are committed to fostering innovative approaches to enhance the learning journey. Our array of methodologies is curated within an offline platform, ensuring accessibility for all.
- Undergraduate students in Environmental Science and postgraduate students in Zoology and Physics are tasked with submitting project reports and delivering seminar lectures as part of their curriculum. Departments such as Botany, Zoology, and Geography organize field trips, while History and Political Science departments arrange visits to historical sites. Interactive learning methods include group discussions, role-playing, subject quizzes, news analysis, and Q&A sessions. Students actively engage in academic pursuits such as mock teaching, classroom seminars, assignments, PowerPoint presentations, and model preparations.
- Moreover, we host various cultural and academic competitions—ranging from recitations and song performances to essay writing and science model exhibitions—providing students with opportunities for participatory learning. Notably, students from the Political Science Department frequently participate in mock-parliament competitions, enriching their academic experience through practical engagement.

Measurement of Capacitance by De Sauty's (Modified) Bridge

Procedures:

1. Set the voltage ($V=2V$) and Frequency (500 Hz) and set the unknown capacitance value from 'Set Capacitor Value' tab by clicking on 'Set' button.
2. Then switch on the supply to get millivoltmeter deflection.
3. Now vary the values of R_1, R_2, R_3, R_4 and C_1 from the control box below or directly put the values in the boxes of respective elements.
4. Observe the millivoltmeter pointer to achieve 'NULL'.
5. If 'NULL' is achieved, switch to 'Measure Capacitance Value' tab and click on 'Simulate' (observe calculated values of unknown capacitance (C_1) and unknown internal resistance (r_2) of the capacitor. Also observe the Dissipation factor of the unknown capacitor, which is defined as $w = C_1 \cdot r_2$ where, $w = 2 \cdot \pi \cdot f \cdot r_2$.

N.B.:
Range of $C_1 = 10\text{ pF}$ to 11111.1 F (in steps of 100 pF)
Range of $R_1, R_2, R_3, R_4 = 1.0$ to 111111.0 Ohm (in steps of 1.0)

Set Capacitor Value Measure

The current voltmeter reading is 0.0079025

e-Content generation by Faculties, B.B. College

Our faculty members consistently conducted online classes using various web meeting platforms such as Google Meet, Zoom, UpGrad, and MSteam. To ensure continuity of learning during lockdown periods when offline access to library resources was restricted, faculty members developed and distributed regular class notes through Google Classrooms, Telegram channels, and WhatsApp groups.

Additionally, they shared links to video/audio recordings, PowerPoint presentations, SlideShare, and audio books with students. Personalized notes were created using fundamental MS Office tools, Google Docs & Spreadsheets, scientific software, simulation software, as well as scanner apps like CamScanner and Adobe Scanner.

Continuous Internal Evaluation and Student Assessments

- The institution ensures that all students are familiar with the evaluation process outlined in the college prospectus. During the centrally conducted induction program, students receive comprehensive information regarding the assessment structure. Internal assessments are conducted regularly in accordance with the college academic calendar and university guidelines.
- The Examination Committee, comprising six faculty members, oversees various aspects of the examination process. Students are notified well in advance about examination dates and durations by their respective departmental faculty members, allowing them ample time for preparation.
- A variety of evaluative methods, including classroom interactions, assignments, project work, seminars, class tests, and non-evaluative assessments such as PowerPoint presentations, surprise tests, fieldwork, quizzes, storytelling sessions, mock teaching, and group discussions, are utilized to assess student progress, enhance interpersonal skills, and broaden their knowledge.
- Any concerns regarding examination questions are addressed by the respective teachers during lecture hours. Corrections are made in case of tabulation errors, and rectified marks are officially recorded. Each department maintains records of internal assessments conducted throughout the academic session.
- The college has a well-structured system in place to address issues related to internal examinations. The Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) gathers annual feedback from students on the fairness of internal evaluations, ensuring transparency in the evaluation process. Students have the opportunity to review evaluated answer scripts for self-assessment in their respective classrooms.
- Any evaluation comments made by teachers are promptly communicated to students, and necessary actions are taken to address any concerns. Students can submit grievances in writing, preferably to the departmental email address, immediately after examinations. The authorities take prompt action to resolve these complaints.
- Students can also approach the Grievance Redressal Cell to report grievances. If students are dissatisfied with the resolution of their issues, they have the option to directly address them to the Principal. In cases of unforeseen circumstances preventing students from sitting for internal examinations, re-tests are conducted at the discretion of faculty members. Additionally, deadlines for project submissions may be extended in cases of medical emergencies, with faculty members accommodating re-examinations accordingly.

Observations by Academic Audit Committee

Strengths

- The institution boasts excellent classroom and laboratory infrastructure to facilitate undergraduate and postgraduate courses. Departments are equipped with modern ICT tools like LCD projectors and laptops for instructional purposes, as well as for conducting seminars and conferences. Smart classrooms feature state-of-the-art audio-visual amenities. Both the Central library and Departmental libraries offer extensive resources including books, open-access materials, online catalogues, and subscribed journals to support student learning. These facilities are extensively utilized for innovative ICT-enabled teaching and learning methods.
- Students receive ongoing academic and technical support to foster both academic and mental motivation. Academic content is delivered through various offline and internet-based platforms such as Google Classroom, YouTube channels, and personal websites.
- Students from departments such as Botany, Geography, and Zoology participate in field trips accompanied and guided by departmental faculty members. These trips involve conducting surveys and writing project reports based on their experiences.
- Student assessments are conducted regularly through class tests, internal assessments, and projects. Special classes are arranged as needed based on the outcomes of these assessments to provide additional support.
- In addition to academic activities, the college offers numerous capacity-building and skills enhancement initiatives aimed at improving students' ICT skills, soft skills, life skills, and language and communication skills. The institution also hosts seminars to further enrich students' knowledge and skills.
- Memorandums of Understanding (MoUs) with various institutions facilitate the conduct of programs and training courses beneficial for both faculty and students.
- Faculty members are actively engaged in various research activities and provide guidance to students to foster research motivation through programs, special classes, mentoring, and organizing seminars within the institution.

Scope of Improvements

- Several departments, including Hindi, Urdu, Geography, Education, Computer Science, and Microbiology, face a significant shortage of faculty members, posing a serious challenge that requires immediate attention through the creation and recruitment of additional teaching positions.
- The institute should strive to establish more collaborative research partnerships with reputable commercial institutions to enhance its research capabilities and academic standing.
- Alumni students have the potential to play a more active role in contributing to the academic and career-related growth of the institution in the future. Their involvement and support can greatly benefit the institution's development.
- Faculty-led research activities should aim to involve more students in the future, fostering a culture of research and innovation within the institution and providing valuable learning opportunities for students.

In summary, the institution possesses significant potential in academic, research, and extension activities. Moving forward, it is essential for the college to address key issues such as the recruitment of an adequate number of teachers and the promotion of more collaborative research endeavors. The supportive role of college management in both academic and co-curricular pursuits undertaken by teachers and students fosters a healthy and symbiotic relationship, essential for achieving academic excellence.

Observations:

- Significant efforts have been made to cultivate a collaborative work environment within the college, aimed at enhancing both academic and professional skills among its learners.

 - The college infrastructure has been appropriately upgraded to enhance the overall academic quality and campus life for both students and teachers. This includes the regular use of digital classrooms (ICT) and other advanced electronic devices such as LCDs and PowerPoint presentations (PPT).
 - In accordance with the guidelines outlined in the new National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, to promote greater student engagement in fieldwork, internships, and project work, additional linkages and Memoranda of Understanding (MoUs) for student and faculty exchanges have been established.
 - To ensure the maintenance of a green campus and the preparation of documentation for internal and external Green Audits, a dedicated Green Audit Committee comprising members from Environmental Science, Botany, Zoology, Chemistry, Microbiology, and Geography, along with nominated student volunteers has been formed.
