SHAMA KHATOON

DEPARTMENT - HISTORY
SEMESTER - 1st
APPLICATION No. - BBCOLG 232774190
DATE - 5/11/23

DETAILS- Sharna, a young minority student recently graduated from school finds herself navigating the daunting corridors of a large college like ours. In this expansive environment she often feels adrift and apprehensive, acutely aware of the linguistic and cultural disparities that loom as potential obstacles. Seeking refuge from her uncertainties, she gravitates towards the library, where she discovers a sanctuary amidst the stacks of books and quiet study spaces.

Welcomed with open arms by the library staff, including the Hindi-speaking library madam, Sharna instantly feels a sense of belonging. Encouraged by the library madam, she is invited to frequent the library not just for academic pursuits but also for inclusive ethos extends beyond Sharna; every girl in the library serves as a beacon of support & guidance for countless girls like her who seek clarity, and comfort in their academic journey.

MAHAK KHANNA

DEPARTMENT - ECONOMICS
SEMESTER - 4th
APPLICATION NO. - BBCOLG 227687918
DATE - 20/12/22

DETAILS - Mahak Khanna, an average student in the economics department, harbors ambitious dreams of financial independence and success. Despite facing familial pressure for marriage, she remains resolute in her determination to complete her higher studies before considering matrimony. One day overwhelmed by parental expectations, Mahak sought solace in the library, where she expressed her anxieties. In response, the library offered sage advice: marriage distractions do not equate to immediate matrimony; it's a process that time to materialize. Encouraged by this perspective Mahak redirected her focus to her studies understanding that academic success would ultimately empower her to persuade her parents. This simple yet profound guidance uplifted Mahak's spirits and reignited her motivation to excel academically.
